

Standards-Based Grading is Really Not About Grading with Steve Oertle

Two Dates and Locations!
October 10 at IEA Springfield
January 23 at NIU Naperville

Teachers need to communicate the answers to these 3 questions:

- Where Are Students Going? (Standards)
- How Are They Doing? (Assessment)
- What Are Their Next Steps? (Instruction)

We will take a deep dive into not only the “WHAT” and “HOW” of standards-based grading, but the “WHY” as well. When you know your “why,” your “what” and “how” have more impact.

After building purpose on a strong foundation, attendees will roll up their sleeves and dig in to tasks in which they will discover “what” components must be in place to effectively develop and use standards-based reporting in both schools and classrooms. This session will empower attendees to make connections between standards, assessments and best practice instruction.

The final portion of the workshop will address the “how.” District, schools and classroom teachers will develop an action plan for implementation wherever they are in the process regardless of their role in the system. Everyone will have time to develop action steps that will lead to a greater clarity of purpose, a more impactful system for communicating growth and achievement and ultimately a student-led learning environment in which students are their own teachers.
